City commission candidates answer questions from voters

By Brenda Bunting
Editor
Some voters got a chance to learn more about the candidates running for seats in the Sept. 13 Belle Glade City Commission election.
The Lions and Rotary Club sponsored a candidates' forum Tuesday at noon at the Belle Glade Elk's Lodge. Both incumbents and the three challengers gave five minute speeches and answered questions from the audience.
Over 250 citizens attended the forum.
Commissioner Harma Miller is being challenged for Seat B by political newcomer Carl Seibert.
Commissioner Daniel Bythwood has drawn opposition from two candidates, Dennis McCarthy and Larry Konchellah.
Mr. Bythwood said he welcomed the challenge. "I don't like to go into something and not fight for it," he said.
Mr. McCarthy was asked if he supported a tax increase to fund improvements which have been mandated in the water and sewer department.
He said he felt other avenues of revenue should be explored first, including grants. He also noted the $2 million currently in the Water and Sewer Department budget which he said could be used for the upgrade. "I wouldn't want to see taxes raised," he said.
Mr. Konchellah was questioned as to whether he still felt City Manager Lomax Harrelle should resign.
Mr. Konchellah, who is the president of the local NAAOP, last year had asked for Mr. Harrelle's resignation, saying he was unfair in his hiring practices of top management city employees.
"I knew this was going to come up," said Mr. Konchellah.
He said he no longer felt that way. "A couple of years ago I was dissatisfied with the number of minorities at city hall. I have seen that change," he said.
In a question posed to Mr. Seibert, he was asked what could be done to best utilize the assets of Lake Okechobee. He said he would promote and market the lake's assets through fishing tournaments which are done in other areas.
But exploring lock access is what it's really going to take, although I understand that will take time," he said.
He was also asked if he felt city employees should live in the city.
"Residency should be a requirement," he said, but noted that some employees should be grandfathered in. "The city needs to set an example," he noted.
Mrs. Miller was asked if there has been a moratorium on building in the City of Belle Glade.
"No," she said, "but we are enforcing the codes though and they have gotten more stringent."
She said she has enjoyed her six terms on the commission and "no matter what happens in this race, I win. There's always something for me to do in Belle Glade. I will continue to serve."
Voters can cast their ballots from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 13, at the Belle Glade Fire Department.

Blood and urine samples in some kids show mercury contamination levels

Mercury found in abandoned van
By Brenda Bunting
Editor
It started out as "show and tell" - three boys, students at Glades Central High School, found four pints of mercury in an abandoned van at 824 N.E. 25th Street, Belle Glade. It's ended up a major problem which has drawn experts from DEP, EPA, and OHM to help our area deal with the toxic material.
Now, the mercury is showing up in blood and urine samples taken from some children who played with the mercury.
The van is on the property of Tommy Y. Housch, who has told police he doesn't own the vehicle.
Inorganic mercury, (not the kind you may have played with as a child if you broke a thermometer,) was taken home from the van by the boys over a week ago. Not knowing it was toxic, they then distributed the mercury to their friends in aspirin bottles and baby jars.
When one mother realized last Thursday night that her child was playing with mercury, she called the fire department. The fire and police departments then began going door-to-door in the neighborhood throughout the night, waking up families and testing the children.
Over 310 people have been examined for mercury toxins, according to Dr. Jean Malecki, director of the Palm Beach County Public Health Unit.
Fourteen families have been evacuated from their homes while a team from the Environmental Protection Agency cleans their homes with a special vacuum. Glades Central High School was closed Monday after 13 rooms were found to be contaminated from children bringing the mercury to school. Some played with the silver balls on their desk tops.
Inhaling mercury vapors may cause serious respiratory problems. Symptoms may also include fever, chills, rash, nausea, chest pain, personality changes, weight loss, irritability, fatigue, nervousness, tremors and confusion.
Those who might still have containers of mercury are requested to call the Belle Glade Police Department at 996-4220 or 996-7251.

Palm Glade Apartments to be auctioned off

Timmy Jackson
Staff Reporter
The Palm Beach County Commission voted Aug. 23 to turn over ownership and management of Palm Glade Apartments after eight years of litigation and more than $10 million in county tax expenses. The new management of the 384-unit will be Palm Beach County Housing Partnership Incorporated, a private, non-profit corporation.
Palm Beach County utilized more than $9.2 million on the low-income apartment complex from 1987 to 1990 after developer Leonard Briscoe was unable to complete the $23 million construction. Since 1991 the county has spent another $1 million to subsidize the operations and the debt payments.
Palm Glade Apartments will be auctioned off in September. The housing partnership can bid on the complex and hopefully try to reduce the $900,000 a year debt cost through refinancing and take over operating and debt costs. The partnership will also pay the county $100,000 from the sale of tax credits on the property, and if they generate excess revenue, that money will also go to the county to help pay off the $9.2 million it has invested into the housing project.
Presently, Mr. Briscoe is serving a two-year prison sentence for giving an illegal gratuity to a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development official.

Rain doesn't dampen Cry for Freedom rally

By Louis Lillard
Clewiston News Reporter
Support from the Cuban community in Belle Glade was evident at a rally in the rain in Clewiston's city park, Saturday, Aug. 27.
The purpose of the rally was three-fold: to show support by local Cubans for their brethren in their homeland as well as for those fleeing the island; a demonstration against Castro; and, to coincide with a funeral held in Miami memorializing the people killed at sea.
Holding American and Cuban flags side-by-side with Castro hanging in effigy, the group held an orderly protest.
All along the parade route marchers could be heard shouting "Viva Libertad. Cuba Si, Castro, no."
Various other people at the rally gave their opinions on the Cuban situation. Heriberto Cruz said they are asking for a blockade of Cuba. "Let us go to Cuba."
Francisco Marfil also felt the same. "Quiero que nos dejen ir a Cuba para liberar a Cuba." (I want them to let us go to Cuba so that we can liberate Cuba.)
Isaac Perez explained in Spanish and English that the Cubans are upset about the people risking their lives. "Cubans are committing suicide in the process of leaving Cuba just because of the pressure to leave. They are coming to the U.S. for freedom."
Aurelio and Milagros Ayes of Belle Glade later said they are designing black and green ribbons for local Cubans to wear. The black is mourning of the dead and the green stands for hope," said Mrs. Ayes.
Anyone wanting a ribbon should call 996-4078.

Weather watchers help track weather patterns nationwide

By Mike Lyons

Weather watcher Mike Connah of Okeechobee phoned me the other day. Mike is a volunteer who reports his weather observations to me on a regular basis.

Equipped with a rain gauge and a thermometer, Mike is one of 500 weather watchers I've recruited throughout the area. These folks provide an invaluable service, helping me report and predict Florida's ever-changing weather.

Mike is one of our newest observers. I met him at a hurricane seminar in Okeechobee a few weeks back. Mike was calling to let me know he received his weather watcher kit and that he had successfully installed it according to the instructions.

"There's just one problem," he said. "My next door neighbor has a horse and, well, the horse just took a big bite out of the thermometer." I told Mike I would send him a new thermometer and suggested that he install this one far away from his neighbor's curious and apparently hungry horse.

Such is the life of a weather volunteer. My 500 weather watchers follow a long, proud line of weather volunteers that have been helping weather forecasters for years.

There are more than 11,500 volunteers across the United States who keep meticulous weather observations for the National Weather Service. These folks, called cooperative weather observers, live in small towns and rural areas.

Each day they write down the high and low temperature for that area, any rain or snowfall and any other pertinent information. At the end of each month, these volunteers send that information to the National Climatic Data Center in Asheville, N.C.

Weather researchers at the Data Center use the volunteer's reports to track what the nation's weather has been doing. Long-term reports from a single location help the researchers determine if there are any changes in our climate.

In the 1940's, many National Weather Service locations moved from cities to airports interrupting years of weather observations. The new locations often led to unusual readings leading some researchers to conclude that our weather patterns were changing. Only by comparing long-term records from the same location can scientists separate real climate change from apparent changes. The cooperative observers help them do that.

Is the greenhouse effect true? Is our climate getting warmer or colder? We can answer those questions, in part, thanks to the tireless efforts of the cooperative weather observers.

For many cooperative weather observers around the country taking the daily readings is something of a family tradition. John Maddox's great-great-grandfather started writing down the weather for Rome, Ga. in 1855.

Every day for the last 139 years someone in the Maddox family has been recording the daily weather observation. Through the Civil War and both world wars the family kept up the daily tradition. The Maddox's is one of 588 volunteer stations with more than 100 years of record keeping.

There's an old saying in the weather business that your forecast is only as good as your data. With folks like the Maddox's and the 11,000 other cooperative weather observers around the country, weather forecasters know that data is solid and reliable.

Now, if we can just do something about Mike Connah's hungry horse.

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBF, Channel 25.

ar rentals, and car rentals. Future plans include the addition of charter services, restaurant, and hotel facilities.

Glades has contracted with Harper's Keep-em-Flyin' to manage and operate the Aircraft maintenance facilities. Harper's services will include aircraft rentals and sales, parts, airframe and engine restoration, annual and progressive inspections, aircraft storage and flight instruction.

Mr. & Mrs. Busby together with their team of professionals, plan to make Glades Airport the center for air transportation servicing Pahokee, Belle Glade, Canal Point and South Bay.

Glades airport is centrally located on the southeast corner of Lake Okeechobee between Pahokee and Belle Glade. Pahokee's new marina and campgrounds, just 2 miles away, offers affordable family fun. Restaurants, golfing, fishing, boat rentals and lodging are nearby.

Sugar and the 1995 Farm Bill were discussed during 11th annual Sweetener Symposium

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

A common theme of how the sugar industry will be treated in the 1995 Farm Bill was discussed at the 11th annual International Sweetener Symposium in Sun Valley, Idaho, Aug. 20-24.

The meeting, put on by the American Sugar Alliance (ASA), drew a host of Glades farmers and representatives to the resort town. Over 380 participants from various areas attended the symposium.

Dalton Yancey, out-going ASA chairman, told those gathered that unity would be required, not only by all segments of the sweetener industry, but by all of agriculture in order to get a satisfactory farm bill.

Due to debate in congress over the Crime Bill, many of the scheduled speakers were unable to attend the symposium in person. Larry Craig, a senator from Idaho gave the welcoming address via telephone.

Dwayne Andreas, chairman and chief executive of Archer Daniels Midland Company, also addressed the group. (Parts of his speech are on page 4 of this week's edition of The Sun.)

The 1995 Farm Bill will be budget-drive, according to comments by Don Wallace, vice president and Washington representative of the American Sugar Cane League. He also noted that the sugar program, which is designed by congress to operate at no cost to the taxpayer, must continue to maintain this no-cost status.

Attending the symposium from the Glades were Florida Sugar Cane League, Inc. representatives Andy and Freda Rackley of Clewiston; George and Mary Beth Cooper, Jr., representing Glade & Grove Supply Company in Belle Glade; Joe and Barbara Hilliard and their son Joe Marlin, II and his wife Chelsea, of Clewiston; S.C. and Vivian Pate of Pioneer Ranch and Sugar Farms, Inc., Belle Glade; Morris and Betty Ridgill, owners of Ridgill & Sons in Clewiston; Jose and Pat Alvarez, Robert and Virginia Apelgren, Joe Tom and Helen Jean Boynton, Tony Contreras, Sharon and Bill Jones, Walter and Carole Kautz, Bill Kramer, Fritz and Lois Stein, Jr., Robert and Laura Under-brink, Jeff and Shirley Ward and George and Peggy Wedgworth, all from Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative; Kevin and Vanessa Carter, Robert Coker, J. Nelson and Anita Fairbanks and James Terrill, all of U.S. Sugar Corporation, Inc., Clewiston; Van Waddill, representing the Everglades Research and Education Center, Belle Glade; and Women Involved in Farm Economics representatives Brenda Bunting and Linda Parker.

Capping the symposium on Wednesday was a panel discussion by members of the ASA Executive Committee - Carolyn Cheney, Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida; Nicholas Kominus, United States Cane Sugar Refiners' Association; Luther Markwart, American Sugarbeet Growers Association; Van Olsen, United States Beet Sugar Association; Jack Roney, Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, Don Wallace, American Sugar Cane League; and Dalton Yancey, Florida Sugar Cane League and Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers, Inc.

The subject of the discussion was the 'Sweetener representa-

The American Sugar Alliance, founded in 1983, is a national trade association representing the beet, cane and corn farmers, processors and refiners, as well as suppliers, workers and others dedicated to preserving a strong domestic sweetener industry.

Annually, the ASA sponsors

the International Sweetener Symposium to provide a forum for discussion of issues affecting the sweetener industry.

Election

I'm calling concerning a problem with the people who are running for election in the City of Belle Glade.

I just attended a meeting where all the candidates were invited. Only one candidate showed up, Mr. Larry Konchellah.

Editor's note: This Speak Out was edited to remove derogatory statements about another candidate who attended the meeting late, but left shortly thereafter. We were unaware of this forum and not invited. Those who attended the forum are aware of what happened, but it is our policy to not allow some of the statements made (which were deleted,) just before an election.

Permit

"Yes. I need to know what department to call to get a permit to park a boat and a vehicle on the street.

I notice on N.E. Second Street, Belle Glade, on the north end, there's always a boat parked and stored there on the street and also in the late evening, there's also a car parked on the street where cars have to go around it.

I'd like to have a permit to park my vehicles on the street also."

Feeling abused

"This Sunday, shortly after noon, a couple pushing a U-Save grocery cart, strolled down our quiet neighborhood street. They were taking treasures, I guess, from our trash piles.

Neighborhood dogs went crazy with barking. Four of us residents happened to witness the event from three separate angles.

The male pusher of the cart used foul language, claimed he had paid taxes for the street because he had paid his telephone bill, (that was amusing) and then said "I wish I had my gun because I'd shoot you and the dog."

We called the police. They had already had a similar summons on the couple. The particular patrolman buzzed by, and had an emergency call elsewhere.

I would like to see U-Save get its cart back, and the foul-mouthed adult have his mouth washed out with soap.

Decente citizens, in spite of our best efforts, and our city police department, must be aware and document suspicious persons and behavior in their neighborhoods and support Crime Stoppers. I feel abused."

Inconvenient

I am a long-time resident of Belle Glade and I want to Speak Out on the condition of where we pay our light bill and our telephone bill.

How is it that we can't get a place to pay our telephone and light bill here in the Glades area? You have to put them in the mail. And I would just like to know, why do we have to go through this?

Editor's note: Electric bills can be paid at Depot Services in the Glades Plaza on S.R. 715, or at South Bay City Hall. Telephone bills must still be mailed.

Have an opinion? Write a letter to the editor!

Farm programs prime target for elimination in 1995 Farm Bill

Editor's note: The following excerpts are from a speech given by Dwayne O. Andreas, chairman of the board and chief executive of Archer Daniels Midland Company, at the 11th annual American Sugar Alliance Symposium held in Sun Valley, Idaho, Aug. 22-24.

Dwayne Andreas

"Accidents happen, and when they do, you have to be prepared to make the most of them.

That's a moral we in the agriculture industry need to take to heart, because there are two big accidents we'd better prepare for. If we do, we'll survive and even prosper. If we don't, we're that serious.

Accident one is a hostile world trade environment that stacks our farmers and industries up against unfair foreign competitors.

Accident two is a hostile political environment that can shape a 1995 Farm Bill that ruins American agriculture.

Now, you might ask how a world trade system that worked to our disadvantage is an accident. The answer is that back in the 1960s we accidentally overdosed on free trade theory and gave away the farm in the Kennedy Round of trade negotiations.

Free trade is like Mom and apple pie - everybody loves it. The trouble is, it's just a theory. It's never been practiced. When it has, it's just been by one side, which quickly finds out that there's nothing free about unilateral free trade.

If markets were truly free, American farmers would have a real competitive advantage - we're the most efficient in the world by far. But markets are not free.

European governments subsidize their farmers to grow far more than their economics can absorb. Then they dump the surplus on the world markets at a fraction of the production costs - bankrupting Third World farmers and stealing markets from the U.S. farmers.

Our farmers are still the bulls-eye on the target for foreign dumpers. The GATT Treaty was a golden opportunity to get the rules changed, but while we made some gains, the system remained basically intact.

Our negotiators tried. They proposed rules to level the field and help our sugar industry compete, but those proposals never made it into the final document. That's not surprising. The European Community has a vested interest in the status quo - it dumps refined sugar on world markets, causing losses to developing countries in the billions of dollars.

We've tried to maintain a viable sugar industry through a sugar program that includes import quotas. But that doesn't stop the predators.

The EC is the major exporter of heavily subsidized products containing sugar and blends into the U.S., and Canada gets around the import quota the same way - it imports sugar from abroad and then re-exports it to the U.S. in the form of blends.

The net effect is to compromise our sugar program, costing jobs in the U.S. and in Third World countries that would otherwise export more to us.

So, how can we challenge that train wreck of a trade policy that leaves our farmers and workers victims of a hostile trade environment?

We need to create a counter-accident - a new U.S. trade policy that's based on reciprocity.

Our government has to tell other governments: "If you let our goods into your markets, we'll let your goods into ours. And, if you try to steal our foreign markets by dumping subsidized goods, we'll subsidize our exports to fight you."

That's the way to get a world trading system that's free and fair. But to do that, we'll have to educate a public that's been brainwashed by free trade propaganda.

So, there's a lot of work to be done, but the time may be ripe for it. The public is finally coming to understand the connection between the deficits, unfair trade practices, and the survival of our farms, factories, and jobs.

And one place to start educating the public is in the coming debate of our farm programs.

Make no mistake about it - farm programs and especially subsidies are going to be prime targets for elimination or reductions.

We're going to hear that our farm programs cost too much. We're going to hear fairy tales about ending our farm programs so the Europeans will end theirs. And we're going to hear a lot about how farm programs undermine free trade.

But it's going to be an uphill fight to prevent the accidental wrecking of American agriculture by a farm bill that destroys our farmers instead of protecting them.

Sugar producers face the toughest fight of all - I guarantee you that the sugar industry will be on the hit list of those who want to end or cut back federal farm programs.

I don't know what the farm bill will look like, but I can make some educated guesses about what may happen.

One good bet is that there will be an attempt to paint the sugar program as inflationary. Not so! Sugar prices skyrocketed when there was no sugar program. But that's not the only ammunition you can use since demand for sugar is inelastic, prices over any five year period would probably fluctuate between 10 and 50 cents a pound.

The USDA's annual "Sugar and Sweetener Situation and Outlook Report" documents that over the last dozen years domestic sugar prices rose less than the overall inflation rate. Prices for sweetened products like candy, cookies, and cereal were up about 40 percent; sugar, by only ten percent.

We're also going to hear that lower sugar prices mean lower prices to consumers. That's another myth you'll have to educate the public about.

Few people know that there's only two cents worth of sugar in a 75-cent soft drink, one-and-a-half cents worth of sugar in a fifty-cent Hershey Bar, a penny's worth of sugar in a two dollar loaf of bread.

Even if you cut the price of sugar in half, it's not possible for the producers of those products to pass savings of a fraction of a penny on to consumers.

You've got to let people know that any reduction in the prices you get for your sugar will flow directly to the food and drink producer - and none of it to the consumer.

The sugar buyers are already lining up behind a price support reduction of two cents a pound. That sounds small to the average citizen. But two cents a pound translates into 40 dollars a ton - more than the net profit for most producers. It amounts to a transfer of $320 million from farmers to food and drink companies.

The net result of lower sugar support prices is less production, followed by subsidized sugar imports. We'll see farmers bankrupted, and if they go down, so will the banks that finance their land.

Remember who benefits from reduced supports - the big food and drink interests, not the kid who puts his quarters into the soft drink machine. And don't let the public and the politicians forget that!

Belle Glade Families in Need - American Red Cross Provides Disaster Services

The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross continues to provide disaster services in Belle Glade. The Family Services and Mass Care units have been established in Belle Glade to provide food, family services and shelter as it is needed.

Presently, 10 families have been asked not to return home due to high levels of mercury exposure. The Red Cross has provided these families with comfort kits and vouchers for clothing.

The Red Cross Family Services works to assist families as they try to regain control and routine in their lives disrupted, in this case, by mercury contamination.

Comfort kits include such personal hygiene items as soap, tooth brush and tooth paste, and are packed separately for men, women and children.

The American Red Cross volunteers, which on Sunday numbered 15, are concentrating much of their effort on the Mass Care services which include regular meals and snacks to those displaced from their homes and those working to restore the community. Everyday the mass care unit is in operation, the volunteers serve three hot meals a day and refreshments around the clock. On Sunday evening the meal total reached 980 meals and will climb into the thousands on Monday. The Red Cross has provided 1,600 refreshments. The beverage and snack service is offered to help the clean-up workers in the field to combat fatigue and heat.

The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross was called first on Thursday night as the Belle Glade Fire Department discovered a community-wide exposure to mercury. The Red Cross was the first on the scene and will be the last to leave. All Red Cross disaster assistance is FREE and made possible by voluntary gifts of time and money from the American people. For further information, please call 833-7711.

This abandoned van at 824 N.E. 25th Street, Belle Glade is where three boys found four pints of mercury. The boys shared the toxic substance with their friends, setting off a chain of events that will cost thousands of dollars in clean up fees and overtime for local and federal officials.

Bed & Breakfast Seminar to help Downtown/Glades Redevelopment

"How to Open a Bed & Breakfast" is a seminar being sponsored by the Palm Beach County Tourist Development Council. The one-day program will be held on Saturday, Oct. 1, 1994, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at The Omni, West Palm Beach.

"This is an excellent way for aspiring innkeepers to learn first hand the requirement of starting their own business," stated Charles Lehmann, Executive Director of the Palm Beach County Tourist Development Council. "And," Mr. Lehmann said, "even more important, this is a golden opportunity to pursue revitalization efforts for the Glades area. Bed & Breakfast inns would be an enhancement of an eco-tourism based industry around Lake Okechobee. Our coastal cities, such as West Palm Beach, Lake Worth and Delray Beach may also be good locations."

Leaders for the seminar are Marge & Tom Clauser. The Clauses conduct similar programs in Central Florida where they own an eight room Bed & Breakfast in Lake Helen. They opened their Inn five years ago and have a combined business background in financial management, employee relations, training and marketing. The Clauses are active in national and state innkeeper's groups. Tom Clauser is on the Board of Inn Route, the state association of Florida.

Compatible with the B&B industry are businesses such as antique shops, gift shops, book stores and restaurants.

"B&B guests always ask where to go for shopping and restaurants," said Marge Clauser. She also stated that many guests include outdoor recreation in their stay, including hiking, biking and water sports.

I can envision an 'Inn to Inn' biking or biking tour around Lake Okechobee," stated Herb Hiller, nationally known author and travel writer from South Florida. "This is eco-tourism at its best. It has been very popular in New England for years, so why not Florida," Mr. Hiller said.

"Innkeepers are one of the largest groups of preservationist in the county" stated Clauser. "Inns are after in old properties that the owners have restored. Restoring, recycling and using environmentally safe products is a way of life at most inns," Mr. Clauser said. "However," she said "B&Bs do not have to be in a historic property. There are several examples in the state of new construction for the purpose of serving as an Inn."

Many committees around the county have become known as centers for Bed & Breakfasts with several inns in close proximity. Cape May, N.J., Santa Fe, N.M., and Williamsburg, VA., are examples. In Florida, St. Augustine and Key West lead with the largest number of inns in a city. However, smaller communities have also benefited when B&Bs have been established. Amelia Island and High Springs have each seen several inns open in the last few years, followed by antique and gift shops and restaurants.

Pat Hardy, of Professional Association of Innkeepers International, when contacted about the seminar, stated, "It's refreshing to have support coming from a tourism agency at this level and to see that the TDC appreciates the value of the innkeeping industry."

The cost of the seminar is $75 per person, and includes lunch and refreshment breaks. For seminar information and registration, call Ms. Clauser at 1-800-220-0310. Registration forms may also be received by calling the Palm Beach County TDC at (407) 233-1048. The deadline for registering is Sept. 26, 1994.

Tips provided for Safe Holiday Road Trips

If you are hitting the road for a long holiday weekend this fall, travel representatives from Exxon Travel Club offers this list of tips before you head down the highway.

Inspect your car, and test all lights, including break lights and turn signals. Make sure your tires are properly inflated and have a minimum tread depth of 1/16". Check all fluid levels including engine oil, coolant, power steering and windshield washer fluid. Finally, before getting into the car, make sure you have an extra set of keys.

Take some precautionary measures to protect your home and belongings too. If you will be away for awhile, make your house look lived in. Have the post office stop your mail or arrange for a neighbor to pick it up. Take the same steps with newspaper delivery. Ask a neighbor to occasionally change the position of your blinds or shades. It is also a good idea to use a timer to turn lights on at dusk and off at your usual bed time.

Of course, no one knows what bumps they will encounter along the way, but by following these simple tips, it should give you some peace of mind for a safe journey.

WHIPLASH

Whiplash injuries can result from a sudden backward and forward whipping movement of the neck, caused by an auto collision, a fall, a powerful slap on the back, or even a violent sneeze. The ligaments and muscles controlling the spinal segments are stretched or sprained, allowing the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions. Nerves are then "pinched" or irritated, giving rise to headaches, nausea, dizziness and other pain.

Did you know that September 5th is the 100th National Anniversary of Labor Day? Observed in all states and in Canada, this holiday celebrates the nation's workforce and its contributions to a strong country. The first celebration of Labor Day was a parade on September 5, 1882, in New York, New York. About ten years later, more than half of the states were celebrating Labor Day, but all on different days. Finally, on June 28, 1894, President Grover Cleveland signed a law making the first Monday in September a legal holiday. Now known as Labor Day, this national holiday will be celebrated for the 100th time this September 5th!

GFC to hold fishing clinic

Adults and children interested in learning the basics of freshwater fishing in South Florida can enroll in a free fishing clinic sponsored by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC).

The clinic will run from 8 until 10 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 10, at Okechee Park, West Palm Beach. Interested individuals must register for the clinic by calling (407) 640-6100.

Callers should leave a message for Steve Marshall or Eve indicating the name of each participant, the number and their ages. Class members without fishing poles will be provided rods-and-reels donated by the Berkley and South Bend Tackle Companies.

Mr. Marshall, who heads the Everglades Urban Fishing Program, said all children must be accompanied by an adult. Children under 16, and resident adults over 65, don't need licenses. Other adults should have a current freshwater fishing license in hand if they want to fish.

Clinic participants will learn the basics about freshwater fish identification, tackle, sportfishing ethics, fishing techniques, bait and other related topics. Okechee Park is located on the north side of Forest Hill Blvd. between Jgd. Rd. and State Road 441.

The Everglades Fishing Program began in 1990, funded through the Federal Sport Fish Restoration Act. The money is derived from an excise tax on the sale of tackle, motor boat fuel, trolling motors, and other sport fishing equipment. Federal funds pay $7,175 each year, or 75 percent of the program. The state pays the balance.

Look... Beginning Sept. 8, 1994, The Sun newspaper will feature the new teachers in the Western Palm Beach County area schools. Two schools will be featured each week and the new teachers will discuss "Why they chose this area as a place to teach".

Gator Tales

Welcome back to another year of Gator Tales! We will try to keep you abreast of the weekly events happening at Glades Day School this year.

Anyone who has been by the school lately can't help but notice all the changes taking place. Due to the huge increase in enrollment, GDS has built seven new classrooms and is almost finished with a brand new air-conditioned cafeteria/auditorium that will seat around 350 people with tables and almost 700 with chairs only. To top it off, a new road is being built out front to allow more parking.

One of the immediate side effects of so many students is more athletes. GDS is trying to accommodate everyone by adding a new football team for seventh and eighth graders. The junior high squad plays their first game at home this Thursday at 7 p.m. against Benjamin. Meanwhile, the JV team will go to Moore Haven Thursday to play at 7 p.m.

Visitors to the football jamboree last Friday got a taste of what to expect from the varsity team as they watched the Gators trounce King's Academy 26-0. They'll be seeing a lot more when the boys play John Carroll at home this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The junior high, JV and varsity volleyball squads began their season this week also. The varsity girls, who defeated Suncoast and Moore Haven in Pahokee High's jamboree last week, played Borean Christian this past Tuesday and, along with the JV, will go to Clewiston on Thursday. The junior high team also played Borean Christian this past Tuesday. Good luck to everyone!

GDS wants you to show your Gator pride! We have green and gold Gator T-shirts on sale in the office for $12 each. Many thanks to Ethel "Spider" Rayburn for her design of a Gator's head bursting out of the front of the shirt and it's body and tail in the back. The children's sizes also come in gray and sell for $10. We expect to have some gray adult shirts in by the end of the week.

The varsity football cheerleaders also have gold Gator flags on sale for $20 each or two for $30. You can attach the flag to your car and let it wave proudly on game days.

Congratulations and a big thank you goes to freshman John Lee Hand, who won a computer for GDS in a golf competition during the summer. We're sure it will be out to good use!

Gators participate in football jamboree

Paula Whitehead
Reporter

The Glades Day School Fighting Gators took to the football field Friday night with anxieties high and a determination to start the 1994-95 football season with a win. And win they did: 26-0 over King's Academy! The Gators were the hosts of the jamboree.

Five teams joined the Gators with each team playing two quarters. To start the night off, American Heritage played John Carroll. American Heritage won the ballgame 24-6.

Next up were the Moore Haven Terriers. They took to the field against the Benjamin Bucks. The Terriers were out to show Benjamin that this year they were not going to be beat. The Terriers barked at Bucks and ended the game with a score of 21-13 in an overtime playoff.

The Gators came onto the field with the crowd cheering the hometown team. The Gators played with determination. They exhibited the fact that they wanted to repeat last year's winning season.

The Gators received the ball to start off the game and this set the momentum for the evening. Quarterback Jackie Garrett started the Gators off with their first touchdown early in the first quarter. Then Danny Scott went in for the Gators' second touchdown bringing the score to 13-0. Marcel Bowen added more points by scoring the third touchdown of the evening leaving the Lions behind 19-0.

Jeff Goodale, running back for the Gators, scored the final touchdown of the evening with 6 minutes left in the final quarter. The Lions had had enough and the referees called the game.

The Gators were victorious 26-0.

Goodale carried the ball for 137 yards.

"Jeff is faster this year," said Patrick Whitehead, teammate and running back for the Gators. "He has really improved over last year and will be one to keep an eye on this year."

The Gators rushed for over 200 yards holding the Lions to a minus yards rushing.

This jamboree game was to prepare the teams for actual football play which starts Friday, Sept. 2. It does not count for this year's season's record.
